According to Dr. Smith, he received a letter from Dr. Price sometime ago in which Dr. Price wrote to the effect that he would like to "present to groups of college students some of the things which do not come through the Associated Press dispatches, etc."

Dr. Price is a young man, and has spent several years in the Orient. He will be in a position to present first-hand information as to the actual situation in China today. His visit is being looked forward to with keen interest by those locally who are interested in the present conditions in China.

Dr. Price's book on "Missions and Oriental Cultures" is the only study of its kind. It is a psychological study of the methods of mission work, and an analysis of the results of such work. It is a thoroughly scientific work, according to Professor Smith.

Winners to be Tried at Contest

A unique judging scheme, originated at Dartmouth college, will be tried out at the inter-class championship debate which will be held at Central Union Church parish house next Monday evening, April 11, at 8 o'clock, according to Prof. John M. Baker, who is in general charge of arrangements for the debates.

Professor Baker is planning to have the winner of the debate determined by three sets of judges, the decision of each group counting one point towards the final score.

Three men, who are not affiliated with the university, will be asked to submit their decision as to who should be given the trophy. Three members of the faculty will also be asked to turn in a decision. In both cases, the team winning the decision of either set of judges will receive one point.

The audience will be asked to vote on the debate also. The team that wins the majority vote of the audience will be given a point. The team that wins two or all out of the three points will be awarded the final decision.

DR. L. V. SCHWARTZ PLANS NEW COURSE

Study of Contemporary Literature will be Made

Dr. Laura V. Schwartz will give a new course in Contemporary Literature next year. This class, which will be open to upperclassmen only, will be a study of essays, plays, and fiction. It will be a two unit course, consisting for the most part, of reading and discussion although some lectures will be given at the beginning of the semester.

The course is planned to give a more definitely outlined course than the directed reading classes have been able to present. There will be only one directed reading class next year and that will not take up contemporary literature.

This course Dr. Schwartz feels should be particularly valuable to the students of Oriental ancestry wishing to familiarize themselves with the literature and thought of today as well as to obtain a good background in college English.

In addition to the above mentioned course, Dr. Schwartz will give the regular course in Shakespearean Drama which is offered every other year. This will be a three unit course open to upperclassmen only. During the first semester the class will take up about twelve plays for rapid reading. During the second semester a more intensive study of the great tragedies written at the height of Shakespeare's career will be considered.

$4000 GIFT TO U. H. LIBRARY IS AIM OF JAPANESE CITIZENS

Dr. Tasuku Harada Heads
Movement to Raise Funds

LOCAL MEN BACK PLAN

Complete Sets of Japanese Volumes Planned by Committee

A gift to the University of Hawaii library of complete sets of reference books and standard works on Japan was assured last Thursday when a group of leaders among the local Japanese, headed by Dr. Tasuku Harada, gathered at the Japanese consulate and voted to raise at least $4000 worth of books for the university library.

Five thousand yen, or $2500 in American dollars, have already been pledged by friends in Japan, headed by Viscount Eiichi Shibusawa, veteran businessman and a staunch worker on behalf of American-Japanese friendship.

When Dr. Harada was in Japan, last year, he laid the project of the gift before Viscount Shibusawa, describing the needs and opportunities of the library here. Viscount Shibusawa immediately pledged 500 yen of his own money, and promised to raise 2000 yen more for the project.

The Prince Fushimi Kinen Shogakukan has announced a donation of $500 towards this fund.

A special appeal will be made to the parents of Japanese students at the university, and Japanese graduates of the university. A meeting of the Japanese graduates of this university will be held tomorrow night to consider ways and means for the raising of the donation funds.

A printed letter will probably be sent to the parents of every Japanese student attending the university, soliciting their cooperation. The parents are not to feel that they are obliged

THE EDUCATION CONFERENCE

We are keenly interested in the Education Conference which opens its week's session next Monday. We trust that the Conference will not be marked by the inane platitudinizing that has so often defeated the aims of other conferences. There are many practical problems that the delegates could discuss with profit, and such a conference could be of immense practical value to the peoples of the Pacific. We wish the members of the Conference every success, and we look forward to some very profitable discussions during their week's session.

INVEST IN EDUCATION

The hope of the world for a better morrow will find its best investment in the proper educational training of its youth of today. Education that will train the minds of our youth to think in terms of the common good, and give to the nations of the world an intelligent, far-seeing leadership, freed of the shackles of ancient, moss-covered practices, and bigoted selfish nationalism. Education that will open the eyes of our youth to the folly and unreasonableness of our war system, and to the necessity for its utter eradication from the practice of nations. Education that will make for good citizenship, not only in national life, but in the world-wide human family.

ON, HAWAII!!

The University grows! With each passing month the University grows bigger and better! On, Hawaii! On towards the goal—the foremost university on earth! With faith and enthusiasm and industry we climb. We have our reverses, our disappointments. But ever upward we advance.

The sheepskin with the seal of the University of Hawaii on it will become one of the most highly treasured of all university documents. Even today we are proud of our Alma Mater. But how much more profound will be our joy and pride when the dawn of the morrow breaks and we awake to behold our vision of a greater and bigger university come true.

The great fact about our vision is this, that we can work to make it come true. Each one of us can share in this work. Even as we saw, so we shall harvest. Make our aspirations noble, our determination indomitable, our industry indefatigable. On Hawaii!!

DEBATE ON MONDAY

Next Monday evening at Central Union Church parish house the first interclass debating championship contest will be held. A novel system to determine the winners will be used. The question for discussion should be of interest to most university students. It reads, "Resolved, that the Territory of Hawaii should adopt for its legislature, the single house system with such changes in legislative organization that are inevitable with the adoption." Whichever team wins, the discussion will doubtless be very interesting. May Monday night's contest be the forerunner of an annual custom, which will never die because of lack of interest and support on the part of the student-body.

OUR LIBRARY

We congratulate Dr. Harada and the committee in charge of the project to raise $4000 or more to purchase Japanese books and books on things Japanese for the University of Hawaii library. We wish Dr. Harada and the committee every success.

Not only will such a gift benefit the students of this university but it will be of great assistance to delegates attending the various Pan-Pacific conferences that are held in Honolulu. And such a gift will also be a great help towards the strengthening of the ties of friendship between America and Japan.

The proposed gift is another harbinger of the day when our library will have grown into a truly Pan-Pacific library, filed with books and documents from every Pacific land. Here will be the biggest and most valuable library in the Pacific. More power to those who are today helping to build our library!

RAINBOW RELAYS

The University track and field team will face one of its hardest fights Saturday when the Rainbow men measure their step with the fleet runners from Outrigger, Palama and Army. The victor of the races will probably win only a few bare points to the good. Our team stands a chance to win. The men are determined to give their very best. Let's give them good support from the bleachers!

Second World Cruise Planned For 1927

A second world cruise of about eight months by the S. S. "Ryndam," sailing from New York on September 20, 1927, is announced by the University Travel Association, Inc., in a circular letter dated February 15, 1927. The letter reads, in part, as follows:

"Experience has shown the desirability of limiting membership of the Second Cruise to male students over seventeen years of age, it having been learned that at some of the ports facilities are not available for accommodating a very large party for conveyance to interior points of interest, and also, the number of five hundred on the present cruise seems more than can be comfortably accommodated. We have, therefore, fixed the number at about three hundred and seventy-five.

"It is our intention to profit by the experience of the first cruise now enroute and, therefore, a careful study is being made regarding the results of the class work and general arrangements on board with the idea of making the second cruise of still greater educational value. Some changes in the ports of call will be made in order to allow for longer visit at such places which have interest from an educational as well as sight-seeing standpoint. The matter of discipline is having our special consideration.

"Changes will be made in the dietary and service, based on suggestions given by faculty and students on the present cruise. Also, practically all the staterooms on "C" deck will be enlarged and provided with beds instead of berths and few inside rooms will be used. All staterooms are provided with electric fans.

"The rates for the second cruise will range from $2500 to $3700, according to accommodation to be assigned at time of registration. Rates quoted include shore trips, tuition, passport-visas, steamer chairs and gratuities. Laundry and cost of text books are not included."

KA LEO OPEN FORUM

March 29, 1927.

Editor, Ka Leo

Dear Sir:

The University of Hawaii, I believe, is a progressive institution. And by progressive I mean the discarding of old, out-worn, and foolish practices and the adopting of new and sensible ideas. Unfortunately, however, the Junior and Senior classes, or perhaps I should say, in justice to all, a mere minority of these classes, are sliding backwards instead of forward. They are so enlightened, so learned and progressive, and so almighty, or at least they think they are, that they must see to it that the "age-old and revered" (?) tradition of permitting only the upper classmen to wear corduroy trousers is enforced. Why, it's absolutely ridiculous for a Freshie or a Soph to wear cords! Oh no, corduroys were made for only the Juniors and Seniors to wear! They are the only ones big (nough and smart enough to wear cords! Apple Sauce!!

The old custom of the upper classmen dictating foolish and discriminating rules to the lower classmen may have been acceptable a hundred years ago but not today. There is no reason, college or anywhere, why persons new to the school should be discriminated and razed by the old-timers. There may have been a sensible reason a hundred years ago but certainly not today. All the large and progressive universities of the mainland have discarded these foolish customs and it is about time that the members of the upper classes do likewise.

When Dr. Dean was president, he put a stop to the razing of the Freshmen by the upper classmen. But now that he has resigned, the Juniors and Seniors are again taking the role of dictators. Perhaps the new administration will not see the thing their way, at least we hope not.

There is no reason, not even the argument of tradition for this is not a matter of tradition but of common sense, why the Sophomores and Freshmen should not wear corduroy trousers. They are durable and economical and certainly look better than khaki or denim trousers. Besides, a number of the Freshmen and Sophomores have it is a gross injustice to force them, nothing but cords for school wear and much against their resources in many cases, to buy other trousers for only a matter of about two months more just to satisfy the false pride and dignity (?) of a few upper classmen.

In place of this foolish rule, let me suggest a more sensible one and one which I believe is fair to all. Why not require all Freshmen and Sophomores and of course, you Juniors and Seniors too, to wear at least a decent collar and tie and also some form of socks? Such a rule is more necessary and sensible than the one the upper classmen are now trying to enforce. Why not think about it, you Juniors and Seniors? Or are your minds so well developed that the sight of a Freshman or a Sophomore wearing a corduroy is more repugnant to your aesthetic sense than a student without a necktie, collar, or socks?

Respectfully, FAIR PLAY.

MILK & EGGS FROM UNIVERSITY FARM!!!

We are now in a position to supply an additional reasonable number of members of the University with milk and eggs produced on the University Farm. An early morning delivery is made in Manoa and in the Punahou section mauka of Beretania and Punahou Streets. Deliveries are not made except in these sections.

University milk is a mixture of milk from Guernsey and Holstein cows. It is raw milk produced under very sanitary conditions. The bacterial content during the past year averaged 3,400 per cc with a range of 1,000 to 6,000. Certified milk permits 10,000 bacterial per cc. The average test is about 3.6% butter fat. Price 22 cents per quart; 11 cents per pint.

University eggs are always fresh and are sold to members of the University at five cents per dozen above the average wholesale price for the month. This is usually five cents under the retail price. Deliveries are made on Tuesdays and Fridays only. If living outside University delivery sections, eggs can be secured at information office by placing order.

Wisconsin Tries Out New College Plans

How and why the University of Wisconsin is marshalling equipment, students and teachers for an education adventure—the Experimental college within the College of Letters and Science—is told in a preliminary announcement of the Experimental college just issued from the office of President Glenn Frank.

"By a virtually unanimous vote, the faculty of the College of Letters and Science has, so to say, roped off, within its own boundaries, a limited area large enough to accommodate 250 students and an adequate teaching staff, and has given to this special teaching group a mandate to make, within this limited area, an attempt to find improved methods of approach to the work of the freshman and sophomore years," President Frank explained.

Only the first 125 students of the projected 250 will be admitted as freshmen to the Experimental college in the fall of 1927. They will live in certain sections of the new dormitories for men at the university. The Experimental college student body will be so far as possible, a cross-section of the whole freshman and sophomore enrollment. Students who will be admitted to the college upon application, will have full freshman or sophomore standing in the College of Letters and Science and the university, and upon satisfactory completion of the Experimental college work will receive full junior standing.

Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst college and now Brittingham professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin, will be chairman of the Experimental college unit. The teaching staff, under his direction, will have a free hand in curriculum and methods of teaching. Members of the staff will have studies and conference rooms in the sections of the dormitories assigned to students of the college. The staff will not be "a small group of hand-picked teaching geniuses." Its members will be part of the regular university faculties, doing teaching in the orthodox colleges as well as in the Experimental college.

The proportion of teachers to students will be, so far as possible, the same as that in the College of Letters and Science, and the expenses of the Experimental college will be kept approximately the same per student as those in other colleges of the university.

In order that there may be no error about the purpose of the Experimental college, President Frank points out that:

"At the University of Wisconsin and elsewhere fruitful experiments are underway on the problem of the exceptional student. Special consideration is likewise being given to the problem of the less gifted, if not mediocre student. The Experimental college does not fall exclusively within either of these groups of experiments; it represents rather an attempt to throw added light upon the educational problem of those colleges and universities which are not free—even if they desired freedom—to devote their energies solely to a selected body of superior students. And it is especially interested in the establishment of repeatable experience.

"The University of Wisconsin is not concerned in displaying through the Experimental college, merely the isolated excellence achievable by a small group of hand-picked teaching geniuses that might by dint of search and seizure be brought together for a time. The university is seeking improved educational processes that may be employed throughout the institution in the instruction of minds of varied types and varied student body, made up as it is at present.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING?

"The keenest criticism that is made of the American College today," declares President Henry Noble MacCracken of Vassar College, "is concerning the lack of definite purpose in the study there carried on. The postponement by the student of his commitment to the career which he prefers and his use of the curriculum for pre-vocational work costs him several years of wasted time in his failure to organize his courses of study to meet his own needs.

"Life is so short and preparation for it is so long that students ought to take this matter to heart and ought to see

Two Fellowships In International Law Up

The American University will award two fellowships in International Law for the academic year 1927-1928: a teacher fellowship of $1,200, and a fellowship of $750. The purpose of these fellowships is to assist the holders to pursue a recently-organized special line of research in International Law. Instead of the customary thesis of a more or less historical nature, the holders of these fellowships will be expected to direct the greater part of their research toward the perfection of a draft of a treaty or project of codification of some selected portion of international law.

The teaching fellowship of $1,200 will net the holder $1,050 over and above tuition. He will be expected to give one undergraduate course of three one-hour periods each week on International Relations.

The fellowship of $750 will net the holder $600 over and above tuition.

These fellowships will be awarded by the Academic Council upon the recommendation of the professor in charge of the Department of International Law, not before May 1st. Applicants must have an approved A. B. degree, or its equivalent. The award will be made on the ground of the student's ability successfully to carry on research and to investigate the problem selected, rather than upon the length of his previous academic training. Applicants with signed photograph, showing the date when taken, and a complete statement of academic work, and other pertinent information, should be sent to the Dean of the Graduate School, 1901 F Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

Track Meet Expected To Break Old Records

Four Teams Enter Annual Classic Races Saturday

Varsity Qualifiers

Kam Tai Lee, sophomore, was the only university sprinter to place in the 100 yard dash novice. He placed second to French of the Army in the first heat, the soldier flash capturing the event in 10 1-5 seconds.

Two Varsity men qualified in the 220 yard low hurdles. Hung Wai Ching took the first heat from Melim of the Outrigger club in the time of 27 3-5 seconds; while Eddie Fernandez captured the second heat in the fast time of 26 2-5 seconds.

William Whittle, W. Vannatta and L. Ferreiro earned the right to enter in the 120 yard high hurdles finals. In the first heat of the timber-topping event, Whittle and Correia of Palama tied for second place. Later the Varsity hurdler won out in the run-off. Vannatta took second in the second heat of this event; while Ferreiro placed second to Crawford of the Army in the third heat.

A. Wriston was the sole Hawaii entry to place in the 16-pound shot put. The Varsity football tackle captured second honors, first place going to De Mello of Palama, who tossed the pellet a distance of 40 feet 11½ inches.

University did a little better in the discus, two men qualifying in the plate-tossing tests. A. Wriston placed second and W. Holt, fifth. The winning toss was made by De Mello of Palama who hurled the platter a distance of 109 feet 4 inches.

One Varsity entrant placed in the javelin-throwing event. W. Holt speared the harpoon far enough to secure him third place. Antonio Cruz, Hawaii's best bet in this event, did not compete on account of illness.

Not a single pole vaulter from the university qualified in the bar-clearing contest. Hawaii has always been weak in this pit event.

W. Whittle and W. Holt will uphold the colors of the university in the high jump. Holt secured fifth place and Whittle garnered sixth honors.

A host of Varsity broad jumpers passed their tests in the kangaroo event. Hung Wai Ching took first place with a long jump of 19 feet 2 inches. Holt placed third; J. Gerdes, sixth; and Al Lemes, eighth. The makai pit has always been a jinx one for Al Lemes. On two previous Rainbow Relay meets, the Varsity's star jumper has failed to qualify in the trials.

No trials were held in the half mile walk. The Varsity entrants in this event will be: J. Myatt, champion walker at the university, J. Jensen, and M. Dease.

Class Debate To Be Held On Monday Night

The freshmen won their right to enter the final contest by vanquishing the sophomore debating team, while the juniors conquered the seniors, in the preliminary contests.

The team winning the contest on Monday evening will be presented with a silver trophy which is offered by the Hawaii Union, sponsors of the debating tournament. This trophy will be offered annually, the class winning it three times capturing it for keeps.

The debate on Monday evening will be open to everyone, with no admission charges.

To win the debate the victorious team must gain the approval of two of the three outside judges, and three out of the five faculty judges, or two of the three outside judges and more than half of the general audience, or three out of five of the faculty group and more than half of the audience.

If a tie vote is obtained from the audience and the group of judges votes unanimously for one side and the group unanimously for the other, the vote of the selected judges will determine the winners.

If in the event of a tie vote of the audience, with the selected judges divided as above, one of the bodies of selected judges casting a unanimous vote, and the other not, the body casting the unanimous vote will have their way.

If neither set of judges casts an unanimous vote, the chairman of the evening will call on one of the judges to act as chairman, and all eight judges will confer, the majority opinion to rule.

This plan was originated by Prof. W. S. Shaw at Dartmouth.

Skulls Wanted For Research Studies

Prof. Wood-Jones Working on Anthropological Experiments

Professor Woods-Jones the well known anthropologist from Australia is in Hawaii experimenting for the Rockefeller Foundation. Professor Woods-Jones is in the market for skulls of pure-blooded races and on part races will do. He wants pure blooded Japanese skulls, pure blooded Chinese skulls, pure blooded Hawaiian skulls and any pure blooded Haole skulls that are available. This seems to be a big order but apparently Professor Woods-Jones is gaining results through devius ways known only to the physical anthropologist.

He has asembled hundreds of skulls and is working out his pure blooded Hawaiian skulls first because they are less numerous than the others in our midst. He is taking these pure blooded races and using their skulls in order to get a typical skull from the hundreds of skulls examined and thereby set a norm or standard by which to judge all Japanese, Chinese or Hawaiian skulls.

These experiments will be conducted by a series of measurements as to lines and angles starting from a point such as the ear cavity on the side and then radiating from this point to all edges of the skull. From the front the nasal cavities will be the point of radiation and then a point in the back will be used for a similar purpose.

From these experiments it is hoped to find a standard skull of the various races and this can be used as a comparison for other skulls where various races are blended. Professor Woods-Jones is also experimenting upon the heads with skin and flesh and making similar tests. He is working on the skulls of still born babies at present.

H. L. Kelley Gives Talk On Hawaiian Fishing

H. L. Kelley of the Fish and Game Commission addressed the class in Food Economics on the fishing industry in Hawaii on Friday, April 1, at 11:30 a. m., Hawaii Hall. He discussed in an interesting way many of the important questions which confront the buyer of fish.

"People think that these islands are surrounded by water, therefore there are plenty of fish," began Mr. Kelley, in telling why fish are not so abundant here as we think they should be. He mentioned three factors which govern the supply of fish: fertility of the water, stock, and vicinity. He gave as causes for not having a fish supply here as expected, the inadequacy of shoals in Hawaiian waters; the insufficiency of vegetation in warm waters; and the inability of the in-pouring stream to supply fish food. Also, he stated that the oil from the waste wark of the pineapple industry destroyed the fish and its food.

In discussing the prices fish Mr. Kelley explained, "Generally speaking, prices here are much higher than on the mainland due to the great abundance of the particular kinds of fish there; while in Hawaii we have a great variety of fish. The people there get their fish by tons; we get ours by the hundreds of pounds."

Mr. Kelley emphasized that the control of the fisherman was by the consumer. He told most amusingly about fish fads and how people despised cheap fish. He said that the dealer had to charge a high price if every one demanded a fillet. "Fish heads, fish shoulders, and fish cheeks are perfectly delicious," he concluded.

Mr. Kelley is well informed on his subject. He came to Hawaii since 1919. Before that time, he was connected with the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries and served as special agent for the Bureau during the War.

There will be no formal campaign for funds, but a general appeal to the Japanese community will be made through the committee in charge, including Dr. Tasuku Harada, chairman; Seiichi Harada of the Sumitomo Bank; and Vice-Consul Takeuchi. Vice-Consul Takeuchi will receive all donations.

The committee is endeavoring to raise enough funds to purchase the proposed set of books by next July. Dr. Anesaki, chief librarian of the Tokyo Imperial University, has consented to supervise the selection of books.

The books will be in several languages, especially English and Japanese. They are expected to form a signal and valuable contribution to the university library, and will probably be of great help to students here and to the various Pan-Pacific conferences that are held in Honolulu from time to time.
